Dear Friends of Tower Hill:

Tower Hill Botanic Garden is hands-down one of the best places to experience winter. There is nothing quite like being surrounded by green foliage in our two conservatories at a time when we all need color, scent and warmth. Winter is also the perfect time for dreaming and planning for the warmer months to come, and our many terrific programs and lectures will inspire you. Here are just a few:

- Chainsaw Safety and Operations. It has been 40 years since I took a chainsaw safety class time for a refresher.
- Outstanding American Gardens. The Garden Conservancy plays an important role in gardens nationally.
- Twenty Tried-and-True Tomatoes. I am an avid vegetable gardener and can never learn too much about tomatoes!
- Tower Hill Reads: The Invention of Nature by Andrea Wulf. I love this book and look forward to discussing it with others.
- Winter Tracking Walk with Kids. Nothing more exciting than finding and identifying animal tracks in the snow!
- The WILDER Life with Celestine Maddy. A rising star in the new generation of gardeners.
- 2Birds, Emerging Musicians from Berklee College of Music. I love seeing jazz in the line up!
- Wander, Wonder, Wilderness. Plants and landscape in the urban context is an important part of Tower Hill's future.

See you in the gardens.

Heirloom Harvest: Talk & Book-Signing Sunday, March 6, 1:30pm Free with Admission. PRESENTER: AMY GOLDMAN

The president of the New York Botanical Garden has called Amy Goldman "perhaps the world's premier vegetable gardener." A passionate gardener, seed saver and wellknown advocate for heirloom fruits and vegetables, Amy is one of the foremost heirloom plant conservationists in the United States. The author of Melons for the Passionate Grower, The Compleat Squash and The Heirloom Tomato (all three winners of the American Horticultural Society's Book of the Year Award), she appears frequently on such TV programs as Martha Stewart Living and Victory Gardens. A
